STATUE OF THOMAS HOPKINS GALLAUDET, FOUNDER OF DEAF-MUTE EDUCATION IN AMERICA.

The Name of the College.

In 1893 a petition from the Alumni was presented to the Board of Directors, praying that the name of the College, which was then the National Deaf-Mute College, might be changed to Gallaudet College, in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, the founder of deaf-mute instruction in America, a bronze statute of whom had been placed on the College grounds by the deaf people of the United States in 1889.

After careful consideration the directors decided, unanimously, to act favorably on the petition of the Alumni, and the new name of the College was announced by President Welling of Columbian University, a member of the Board, on Presentation Day, May 2, 1894.

Instruction.

Moral and religious culture is specially provided for by regular daily and Sunday exercises, in which the Faculty and all the students participate.

Instruction in Drawing and in Book-keeping is provided for all students who desire to take lessons in these subjects.

Systematic physical training, under the direction of instructors, in a well-equipped gymnasium, is required of both sexes throughout the course.

The courses of instruction and study in the arts and sciences, as set forth in the following outline, are given substantially as they have been pursued, with but slight variations from time to time, for a number of years.

The system of instruction includes the recitation of assigned subjects; discussions and lectures; work in laboratories and with instruments; courses of reading directed by members of the Faculty, and practice in English composition.

The entire curriculum, including an introductory year, embraces a period of five years, each of which is divided into three terms.

Instruction in articulation and speech-reading is offered to all the students of the College, provision having been made for this by Congress. Special pains are taken to preserve and improve, by suitable and frequent oral exercises, whatever power of speech and ability to read the lips are possessed by students on entering College.

OUTLINE OF THE CURRICULUM.

INTRODUCTORY COURSE.

Language.—The study of the elements of English composition extends through the course. The text-book is that of Gardiner, Kittredge and Arnold. Daily written exercises and frequent theme-writing are exacted, together with much supplementary reading, and analysis and criticism of the text.

Latin is studied throughout the year. The text-book is "Collar & Daniell's First Year Latin." In the last term a portion of the second book of Cæsar's Gallic War is read.

Mathematics.—Wentworth's Elementary Algebra is the text-book, which is studied throughout the year, embracing the first 20 chapters (to simultaneous quadratics), and Algebra is then discontinued until the last term of the Freshman year. Much attention is given to the elucidation of problems. In comprehending these, some deaf-mutes labor under peculiar difficulties, not from lack of reasoning power, but from insufficient or defective training in English during their previous instruction. The endeavor is to train the student to reason out all work independently and to make such statements with it as will show that he understands not only the mechanical operations, but the reasons therefor.

UNDERGRADUATE COURSE OF STUDY FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS.

The College makes provision for thorough instruction in the essentials of a liberal education, without attempting to do the special work of the polytechnic schools on the one hand or that of the University on the other. The course of higher instruction leading to collegiate degrees occupies four years, and embraces courses in (1) Languages, ancient and modern, (2) Mathematics, (3) Natural Science, (4) History, and (5) Philosophy and Political Science. Studies noted as optional may be pursued only by special permission of the Faculty. The arrangement of the studies by years is given in the Synopsis which follows this descriptive outline.

I.—Language.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

History of the English Language.—Text-books: Johnson's English Words and Hadley's Brief History; third term of the Junior year. The students bring in on paper an epitome of the topics in the lesson, or such written exercises as are called for by the text. Their comprehension is tested by questions, and the exercises are supplemented by brief lectures on the part of the instructor.

History and Criticism of English Literature.—The text-book is R. P. Halleck's History of English Literature. The time given is the second term of the Sophomore year and the second term of the Junior year. Some reading of the works of each author mentioned in the text-book is required, and an entire work of some author is selected for perusal and critical analysis, and the results given in writing. Essays are required, giving an estimate of some author, as derived from sources outside of the text-book.

American Literature is an elective study open to students pursuing selected courses, and to such members of the regular classes as evince ability to take it up as an extra study. Julian W. Abernethy's text is used, but the course consists principally of readings, criticisms and theme-writing for three terms.

English Composition.—Genung's Outlines of Rhetoric is studied in the third term of the Sophomore year, and daily written exercises are exacted. Frequent exercises in original composition are required of students in all the classes throughout the five years' course. In the revision of these exercises all the Faculty take part, each member having a section. The revision is usually done in the presence of the writer, and by the writer when possible.

French and German.—Both French and German are required in the course, French being studied in the Junior and German in the Senior year, with daily recitations during the three terms. With both these languages the attempt is made to give a thorough comprehension of their grammatical forms and principles, the peculiarities of their idioms, and their relations to English, and especially to render the students skilful, accurate and ready in translation. In French, Grandgent's Essentials of Grammar and Aldrich and Foster's Reader are used, with supplementary readings of French texts varied from year to year. The corresponding course in German consists of Lange's Method, with supplementary reading of German texts. The students are also encouraged to pursue independent courses of reading.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES.

Latin.—There are daily recitations in Latin throughout the Freshman year and the first term of the Sophomore year. In the Freshman year, part of Cæsar's Gallic War, and several of Cicero's Orations, are read ; in the Sophomore year, a part of Virgil's Æneid. Special attention is paid to the construction and analysis of the language, to extemporaneous Latin composition based upon the text under consideration, and to Latin etymology in its bearings upon our own tongue. While the authors read are for the most part such as the Faculty would prefer, if practicable, to confine to the Introductory Course, and while—owing to the prominence given to French and German, and especially to the composition and critical study of English—the time devoted to the ancient languages is less than in the usual curriculum of American colleges, it is believed that Latin is taught in such a manner as to awaken in the students the true spirit of classical scholarship, and enable them subsequently to read more difficult authors, independently, with pleasure and profit.

Greek.—The study of Greek is optional; the course marked out by the Faculty, comprising White's Beginner's Book, Goodwin's Grammar, and Xenophon's Anabasis in the Freshman year, Homer's Iliad in the Sophomore year, and Demosthenes on the Crown in the Junior year, has been successfully pursued to a greater or less extent by several students.

II.—Mathematics.

Geometry.—The Freshmen study Geometry throughout the year, using Wentworth's Geometry as the text-book. The work of each student varies between written demonstrations and those given by speech or dactylology at the blackboard in the presence of the whole class. Numerous theorems not demonstrated and problems not solved in the text-book are given to test the ability and proficiency of the class.

Algebra, having been studied throughout the Introductory year, is resumed, and the subjects of the theory of exponents, ratio and proportion, variation, series, the bi-nomial theorem, and the theory and structure of logarithms are studied in the third term.

Trigonometry, with its applications, is studied throughout the Sophomore year. The text-book is Wentworth's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, with its Applications to Mensuration, Surveying and Navigation.

Analytic Geometry is an optional study in the Sophomore year. Ashton's Plane and Solid Analytic Geometry is used as the text-book.

Descriptive Geometry is also given as an optional study in the same year. The text-book is McCord's Elements of Descriptive Geometry.

Mechanics.—In the first term of the Junior year the elementary propositions of Mechanics are mathematically demonstrated, and illustrated by numerous practical problems. The text-book is Dana's Mechanics.

Differential and Integral Calculus, as set forth in Bowser's Calculus, is offered as an elective study in the Junior year.

Surveying.—Advanced work in surveying and levelling may be done in the Junior year by consent of the Faculty.

Mechanics of Materials, as presented in the first six chapters of Merriman, is an optional study in the Senior year.

In all the studies of the mathematical course much original work of an elementary and practical character is required, and it is believed that students who have mastered this course are prepared to undertake the study of the higher branches of mathematics.

III.—Natural Science.

Chemistry.—The Sophomores use Newell's Descriptive Chemistry to gain knowledge of the principles of General Chemistry. Each student is expected to perform as many of the experiments laid down in the text-book as practicable, and is required to make notes on all his laboratory work. The Juniors engage in laboratory work for one term, making use of standard works for guidance in Qualitative Analysis. The aim of the entire course in Chemistry and Analysis is to train students to habits of accuracy in observation and reasoning, and to lay a foundation for more advanced scientific work.

Advanced Chemistry.—Promising students may be permitted to take up as optionals any of the courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry for which they are prepared. A course in Snyder's Chemistry of Soils and Fertilizers is also offered for the benefit of those expecting to take up agricultural pursuits.

Natural Philosophy.—The Juniors study hydrostatics, pneumatics, magnetism, electricity, heat and light for two terms, as set forth in Mann and Twiss's text-book of Physics.

Young's Astronomy is studied for one term in the Senior year. Opportunity is given, when the conditions favor, to observe the heavenly bodies through one of Clark's four-inch telescopes.

Botany occupies one term of the Sophomore year. Students are required to sustain an examination in physiological and structural botany, and to be able to describe fully and determine the names of ordinary plants, excluding only a few of the more difficult families.

Advanced Botany.—A course in Advanced Botany is offered as an elective to students who have completed the general college course in Botany. Bessey's Botany and Goodale's Physiological Botany are the texts used. A course in the study of trees is offered to students who have a fair knowledge of elementary botany. The work is almost entirely field work, based upon a study of the collections of trees in the grounds of the Capitol and of the Department of Agriculture. Sargent's Manual of the Trees of North America is used as a reference book.

Zoölogy.—During one term the Sophomores study Physiology and the elements of Zoölogy, including the general principles of classification.

Electricity.—An optional course in electricity is given in the Junior year. The text-book used is Silvanus Thompson's Elementary Lessons in Electricity and Magnetism.

General Engineering.—In the Senior year especially qualified students are allowed to attend an extended course of lectures on motors and general engineering.

Geology and Mineralogy are studied in the second term of the Senior year.

Whenever practicable, use is made of one of Beck's binocular microscopes, with the manipulation of which the students are familiarized. Morton's college lantern is also used for purposes of illustration.

IV. History.

Ancient History.—The study of Myers's General History occupies the first term of the Freshman year, and includes a brief survey of the minor monarchies of the ancient world, and a more detailed study of the four great empires, Egypt, Persia, Greece, and Rome. The geography and chronology are studied with thoroughness, the use of maps and the construction of chronological charts being required. Much contemporaneous reading is exacted. The student is also encouraged to apply the knowledge obtained in this study to his reading of the classical authors.

Mediæval and Modern History are taught with the text-book above mentioned during the second term of the Freshman year. Additional information upon the subjects treated is imparted by the professor in connection with the recitations; the students are required to take as much collateral reading as their time will permit; and an essay on some historical subject is required occasionally during the entire term.

V.—Philosophy and Political Science.

Logic.—First term, Senior year: Davis's Elements of Deductive Logic is thoroughly studied, and written exercises upon the principles under consideration are required daily.

Mental Science.—During the third term of the Senior year the more important topics of Intellectual Science are studied, with short lectures by the professor. Buell's Essentials of Psychology is the text-book usually employed.

Moral Philosophy.—During six weeks of the first term the Seniors have a daily exercise in this study, reading the whole of Haven's Moral Philosophy. Questions are asked on each day's portion of the text-book, and comments are made by the professor.

Evidences of Christianity.—During six weeks of the second term the Seniors have a daily recitation in Butler's Analogy. Dr. Emory's Analysis is used and made the basis of questions. The book is studied without omissions.

Political Economy.—Perry's text-book is used, with a daily exercise, for six weeks of the first term of the Senior year.

International Law.—Gallaudet's text-book is read, with a daily recitation, during about six weeks of the second term of the Senior year.

Æsthetics.—Bascom's Lectures on the Science of Beauty are read during a part of the last term of the Senior year, with a daily recitation, accompanied by brief lectures from the professor.

TECHNICAL INSTRUCTION AND COURSES LEADING TO THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF SCIENCE.

Students who have completed the Sophomore year without conditions, by special consent of the Faculty, are permitted to pursue, for the remainder of the course, certain studies of a technical and scientific nature leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. These studies are substituted for equivalents in difficulty in the academic course.

At present courses are offered in Civil Engineering and in Chemistry. The studies pursued in connection with the above are: Analytic Geometry, Descriptive Geometry, Differential Calculus, Mechanics of Materials, Levelling, Topographical Surveying, Railroad Surveying, Qualitative Analysis, Quantitative Analysis, Assaying, Chemical Preparations, Organic Chemistry, Determinative Mineralogy.

Permission may be given to students pursuing the academic course to take up one or more of the above studies as extras.

NORMAL COURSE.

A course in the science and art of instructing the deaf is afforded to a limited number of young hearing persons who wish to become teachers of the deaf. Candidates for this course are expected to be graduates of colleges of good standing. Exception is sometimes made in favor of graduates of normal schools or of high schools who show exceptional qualifications.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

First Term.

The language of signs; the use of the manual alphabet—forty-five minutes daily.

Speech teaching, voice training, visible speech—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in speech classes—one to two hours daily.

Lectures on the manual alphabet; the classification of the deaf; the ear; the throat and voice; the history of the education of the deaf in America; child study—aggregating two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Causes of deafness; number of the deaf; occupations of the deaf, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis—History of the education of the deaf.

Second Term.

Instruction in finger-spelling and signs as in the first term.

Practice in speech teaching—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in manual and speech classes—one to two hours daily.

Lectures on aural development; child study—aggregating two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Physical training; the school-room; school records, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis on subject chosen during term.

Third Term.

Instruction in signs and spelling as in first and second terms.

Practice in speech teaching—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in classes in geography, history, arithmetic, and language—one to two hours daily.

Lectures on child study, methods of instruction in language, arithmetic, geography and history—an aggregate of two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Text-books; marks; examinations; out-door work, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis on the teaching of some special subject, as arithmetic or language.

Some of the books of reference used are: Page on Teaching, Mottoes and Commentaries of Froebel's Mother Play, Bell's Visible Speech in Twelve Lessons, Guttman's Voice Training, Arnold's Teachers' Manual, Reports of the Convention of the American Instructors of the Deaf, the American Annals of the Deaf.

Observation and practice work are carried on in the Kendall School, the primary department of the institution. After three months' instruction the normal students are required to assist in speech teaching in the college as well as in the school.

Throughout the year they live with the college students and take an active part in all the social life of the institution.

The young ladies assist in supervising the girls of the Kendall School and in Sunday-school work. The young men help conduct chapel exercises in the school during the third term.

The aim of the department is to equip well-educated young men and women with such knowledge not only of teaching, but of the deaf themselves, that they may be able to do intelligent work at once in the various schools of the country.

SYNOPSIS OF THE COURSE OF STUDY.

INTRODUCTORY COURSE.

One Year.

Mathematics.—Wentworth's Elementary (so-called, but more advanced than his School) Algebra, to simultaneous quadratics.

English.—Longman's School Grammar (reviewed); Gardiner, Kittredge and Arnold's Elements of English Composition; General Rules for Punctuation; Original composition.

Latin.—Collar & Daniell's First Year Latin; Cæsar's Commentaries.

COLLEGIATE COURSE FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS.

The Freshman Year.

Mathematics.—Wentworth's Elementary Algebra (from simultaneous Quadratics); Wentworth's Geometry; Original exercises.

English.—Original composition.

Latin.—Cæsar's Gallic War; Cicero's Orations; Allen and Greenough's Latin Grammar.

Greek (an optional study).—White's Beginner's Greek Book; Goodwin's Greek Grammar; Xenophon's Anabasis.

History.—Myers's General History, Revised.

The Sophomore Year.

Mathematics.—Wentworth's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Original exercises; Ashton's Analytic Geometry (optional); McCord's Elements of Descriptive Geometry (optional).

Zoölogy.—Burnet's Zoölogy.

Physiology.—Walker's Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene.

Botany.—Bergen's Foundations of Botany.

Chemistry.—Newell's Descriptive Chemistry; Laboratory Practice.

Latin.—Virgil's Æneid.

Greek.—Homer's Iliad (optional).

English.—R. P. Halleck's History of English Literature; Readings from English Authors; Genung's Outlines of Rhetoric; Original composition.

The Junior Year.

Mathematics.—Bowser's Calculus (optional); Dana's Mechanics; Surveying (optional).

Physics.—Mann and Twiss.

Electricity.—Sylvanus Thompson's Elementary Lessons in Electricity and Magnetism (optional).

Chemistry.—Qualitative Analysis.

Advanced Chemistry (optional).—Snyder's Soils and Fertilizers; Advanced Qualitative Analysis; Sharpe's (and other) Chemical Preparations; First Part of Talbot's Quantitative Analysis.

French.—Grandgent's Essentials of French Grammar and Aldrich and Foster's Reader; Various French texts.

Greek.—Demosthenes on the Crown (optional).

English.—Johnson's English Words: Hadley's Brief History of the English Language; R. P. Halleck's History of English Literature; Readings in English Literature; Original composition.

The Senior Year.

English.—Original composition; Readings in English Literature.

German.—Lange's German Method; Various German texts.

Mathematics (optional).—Merriman's Mechanics of Materials.

Mineralogy.—Crosby's Common Minerals and Rocks.

Geology.—Le Conte's Geology.

Astronomy.—Young's Astronomy.

Advanced Chemistry (optional).—Remsen's Organic Chemistry; Second Part of Talbot's Quantitative Analysis; Brown's Manual of Assaying; Crosby's Tables for the Determination of Common Minerals.

Mental Science.—Davis's Elements of Deductive Logic; Buell's Essentials of Psychology.

Moral Science.—Haven's Moral Philosophy; Butler's Analogy.

Æsthetics.—Bascom's Elements of Beauty.

Political Philosophy.—Perry's Political Economy; Gallaudet's International Law.

General Information.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies required for admission to the Introductory Class, as well as in all the studies of the latter class.* In the Latin examination less importance is attached to the amount of literature read than to the familiarity with the essential principles of Latin etymology and syntax evinced in translating selections from any familiar author.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in Algebra through simple quadratics (with problems). Wentworth's Elementary Algebra, pages 1–296, is recommended in preparation for this examination. Students should understand all definitions and all operations with their reasons. Problems should be accompanied with explanations of the steps, showing that the worker understands what he is doing.

Testimonials of good moral character are required of all applicants for admission.

The charge for board and tuition in the College is two hundred and fifty dollars for the academic year. Congress, however, makes provision for the free admission of residents of the District of Columbia who have not the means of supporting themselves, and for those whose fathers are in the military or naval service of the United States. To students from the States and Territories who have not the means of defraying all the expenses of the College course the Board of Directors is authorized by Congress to render such assistance as circumstances seem to require, and as far as the means at its disposal for this object will allow.

---

* Those for admission to the Introductory Class are issued in a circular that can be had on request. The studies of the Introductory Class are named on pages 49, 50 of this catalogue.

All applications for admission should be addressed to the President.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of each term there are written examinations in all the studies of the term.

A record is kept by the Faculty, which shows the standing in study of each student for every term, as determined from the recitations and the examinations, both being graded on a scale of 10. A student whose combined mark falls below 6.5, in any subject, or mark in examination below 5.5, is conditioned. The condition may be removed by obtaining a mark of 6.5 upon re-examination. The members of the graduating class have public parts on Presentation Day. Original dissertations are delivered by those whose average for the College course is below 8, and orations by those who attain a higher standing.

DEGREES.

The corporation is authorized by an act of Congress to confer "such degrees in the arts and sciences as are usually granted in colleges."

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on students who have sustained examinations on the full Academic course of four years, and who have paid all their dues to the College.

Students so desiring are permitted to pursue a selected course of study extending through four years, the satisfactory completion of which will entitle them to receive the degree of Bachelor of Science, of Philosophy, or of Letters.

The Master's degree will be conferred, in course, on graduates of not less than three years' standing who shall furnish the Faculty with satisfactory evidence of their having made substantial progress in science, philosophy, literature, or the liberal arts since their graduation. Application for this degree should be made to the President of the College in writing.

THE GYMNASIUM, WITH PROFESSOR'S HOUSE.

The Master's degree is also conferred on those graduates of the normal department who have previously taken the Bachelor's degree.

AUXILIARY PRIVILEGES.

The students maintain a literary society, a library, and a reading-room. They also have access to the College and Institution libraries and to the educational collections in the College museum.

The Library of Congress, and the collections of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Museum, the Corcoran Gallery of the Fine Arts, and other collections of the National Capital, open to the public, are of inestimable value to the students of the College.

Specimens of Examination Papers.

FOR ADMISSION TO THE FRESHMAN CLASS.

Algebra.

1. Find all the factors of

(a). x^6-y^6; (b). $19x^2+358ax-57a^2$;

(c). $16x^4+36x^2y^2+81y^4$.

2. Find the L. C. M. of $2a^4-4a^3+2a$ and $4a^4-4a^3-4a-4$.

3. Solve the quadratic $ax^2+bx+c=0$; when will the two values of x be equal?

4. Simplify $\frac{2(x-y)^3}{x^2-(y+z)^2}\times\frac{3(x+y+z)^2}{x^2-y^2}\div\frac{12(x^3+2x^2y+2xy^2+y^3)}{x-y-z}$.

5. Find the cube root of $x^6-9x^5+42x^4-117x^3+210x^2-225x+125$.

6. Expand $(3x^2-2y)^5$.

7. Reduce to the simplest form

(a). $(\sqrt{125})^{\frac{1}{3}}$; (b). $(\sqrt[3]{x^2-y^2})^6$.

8. Solve $\sqrt{4x+60}+\sqrt{4x}=60$.

9. A cask has 3 faucets. The first will empty the cask in one hour, the second in two hours and the third in three hours. How long will it take all 3 running at the same time to empty it?

10. A man sold a horse for $56 and gained as many per cent. on the sale as the horse cost dollars. How much did it cost?

Latin.

A. Translate into English:

1. Tibi est frater iuvandus.
2. Si domus patris tui igni deleatur, ubi eas?
3. Si veritus esset ne interficeretur, in eam silvam non iisset.
4. Cum naves refectae essent, tamen Cæsar non navigavit.
5. Amice, si audire posses, hoc in collegium venire nolles.
6. Nonne luce solis fruimini?
7. Dixerunt se auxilium petitum venisse.
8. Regibus Roma expulsis, duo consules creati sunt.
9. Fabricius medicum vinctum ad Pyrrhum reduci iussit.
10. Hostes in silvas fugerunt, ne a nostris militibus viderentur.

B. 1. Explain the case of tibi, igni, luce, se, regibus.
2. Explain the mood of refectae essent, posses, venisse, reduci, viderentur.
3. Decline the nouns in the first and seventh sentences of the first paragraph.
4. Conjugate the future indicative, active, of the main verbs in the fourth and seventh sentences.

C. Translate into Latin :
1. His soldiers, too, saw the camp of the enemy not many miles away from their own camp.
2. An hour is the twenty-fourth part of a day.
3. The river was much too deep.
4. The elephant is bolder than the horse.
5. I see the ornaments which your father has sent you.
6. Even the women fought bravely.
7. We grieved at the wounds of those men.
8. These were Cæsar's words: "I came, I saw, I conquered."
9. The prisoner by whom this soldier was wounded will be led to Rome.
10. Let not this same difficulty scare us.

English.

1. Write some anecdote of your childhood.
Follow these directions :—
(a) Think out your story.
(b) Prepare an outline of your story.
(c) Tell the story, using the outline to guide you.
2. Write appropriate adjectives before these nouns: — factory, pitcher, meadow, thistle, snowdrift, rose, crow, steak, knoll, thought.
3. What are synonyms? Give synonyms for return, civil, error, awkward, nation. Write a sentence, or sentences, containing each of the above words.
4. What are antonyms? Give five words and their antonyms.
5. (a) Write five sentences containing a nominative absolute (with a participle).
(b) Substitute a clause for the nominative absolute whenever this is possible.
(c) Substitute a prepositional phrase, if it can be done without spoiling the style.
6. (a) Write a formal invitation to a dance.
(b) Write an appropriate reply.
(c) Write an informal invitation to a luncheon.
(d) Write an appropriate reply.
7. Write a friendly letter, giving an account of your happiest day this year.
8. Write a business letter, answering an advertisement for a house wanted, and describing the house you have for sale.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The College makes provision in its regular courses for thorough instruction in the essentials of a liberal education.

The standard of admission has recently been raised one year.

The preparatory year's work as now offered consists of courses in Plane Geometry, Cæsar and Cicero, Ancient History, and English Composition.

The course of higher instruction leading to collegiate degrees occupies four years, and embraces courses in (1) Ancient Languages, (2) Modern Languages (including English and American Literature and Composition), (3) Natural Science, (4) Mathematics, pure and applied; (5) History, (6) Drawing and Descriptive Geometry, (7) Philosophy and Political Science, (8) Business Methods and Elementary Law.

Special courses in Chemistry (including assaying, soil analysis and chemical preparations); in Surveying, and in Electricity are also offered.

The full course, as revised this year and adopted provisionally by the Faculty, will be published in the May, 1909, number of the American Annals of the Deaf, and in a folder which may be had upon application to the President after May 1, 1909.

ORAL INSTRUCTION.

Instruction in articulation and speech-reading is offered to all the students of the College. Special pains are taken to preserve and improve, by suitable and frequent oral exercises, whatever powers of speech and ability to read the lips are possessed by students on entering the College.

ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission to the Preparatory Class are required to be able to express their thoughts in connected English and to comprehend the language of the ordinary text-books of the common schools. A command of English to this extent is essential to the satisfactory and successful prosecution of the studies of this class. Pupils born deaf, or deaf from early infancy, who have acquired this ability and are also well grounded in the elementary studies of the public schools, may be encouraged to seek the privileges of the College. In the case of pupils who retain a fair command of language after becoming deaf, the danger of superficial preparation in the rudiments of the elementary studies is very great. Such pupils should be made acquainted with the real state of affairs, and should not be recommended for admission to the Preparatory Class without full training in the elementary branches. In all cases thorough familiarity with arithmetic is insisted upon.

Candidates for the Preparatory Class are examined in the following subjects:

1. English, embracing Composition, Reading and Grammar.

Reading. (a) Candidates are required to present evidence of having read the works selected, and to answer questions upon the lives of their authors. The form of the examination will be the writing of a paragraph or two on each of several topics, to be chosen by the candidate from a considerable number given in the examination paper. In every case knowledge of the book will be regarded as less important than the ability to write good English.

The works prescribed for this part of the examination for 1910 are:

Lowell's Vision of Sir Launfal.

Scott's Ivanhoe.

Tennyson's Gareth and Lynette.

Irving's Life of Goldsmith.

In subdivision (a) no written exercises covering the work outlined will be accepted in lieu of examination, because this part of the examination in reading, besides serving its more obvious purposes, is intended to aid in ascertaining the candidate's command of language. It is thought that he will be more apt to use his own powers of expression when cut off entirely from the constant reference to the texts that is possible in the writing of the exercise books, and by this means furnish a truer basis for judging his proficiency in language.

(b) Study and Practice. This part of the examination supposes a thorough study of each of the works named. It will be upon the subject-matter, form, and structure of the work; and will also be a test of the candidate's ability to express his knowledge with clearness and accuracy. In addition, the candidate is required to answer questions upon the text involving the essentials of grammar, and to give from memory passages which he may think especially noteworthy, with reasons for such opinion.

In place of a part or the whole of the examination in subdivision (b), the candidate may present an exercise book, properly certified by the instructor as the unaided work of the pupil, containing compositions and other written work done in connection with the study of the books.*

The works prescribed for this part of the examination for 1910 are:

Macaulay's LIFE AND WRITINGS OF ADDISON.
Milton's MINOR POEMS.

In the statement of requirements above, "Subject-matter" should be understood to mean the Story of the book, and more particularly the main thread or purpose of the work; the lessons sought to be enforced; the characters depicted and the peculiar traits of each; the incidents in which they figure; the play of incident upon character; and the changes for better or worse through which the characters pass. If it is a philosophical, critical, or oratorical work, then the examination may call for the points brought out, the line of argument, and the conclusions reached.

"Form": Kind of prose, or verse; whether dealing with the actual or the imaginary; whether dramatic or narrative, polemical, descriptive, philosophical, satirical, critical, or otherwise.

"Structure": Whether sentence-structure is predominantly long, short, or adequately varied; whether predominantly simple or complex; inverted or regular; whether the style is clear or obscure; concise or diffuse; idiomatic or pedantic; ornate or bald. Structure may also be said to cover the requirements in grammar noted below.

The "questions upon the text involving the essentials of grammar" are intended as an additional test of the candidate's mastery of the principles of grammar. All that is required to pass the examination in that study will be to answer these questions. They will involve parsing and analysis, and other explication of the relations and interdependence of the parts of speech in sentence-structure, and also the elucidation of idiomatic and abbreviated forms.

* The note-books may bear corrections in red ink by the teacher.

2. Arithmetic.
3. Elementary Algebra through simple quadratics.
4. Elementary Latin.
5. English and American History.
6. Elementary Physics.

Detailed information upon this subject is printed separately in pamphlet form which can be had upon application to the President of the College. Much further light is also thrown upon this subject by the "Report of the Committee of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf upon a Course of Study Covering Ten Years," copies of which can also be had upon application.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies of the Preparatory Class, in addition to the studies required for admission to that class. In the Latin examination less importance is attached to the amount of literature read than to the familiarity with the essential principles of Latin etymology and syntax evinced in translating and parsing selections from any familiar author.

Testimonials of good moral character are required of all applicants for admission.

The charge for board and tuition in the College is two hundred and fifty dollars for the academic year. Congress, however, makes provision for the free admission of residents of the District of Columbia who have not the means of supporting themselves, and for a limited number from the States and Territories.

Applicants for admission may, if they so desire, be examined at the schools where they are making preparation for College, and question papers will be furnished on the application of any Principal or Superintendent of an Institution or School for the Deaf. Such Principals or Superintendents are requested to write for examination papers not later than the first week in May, in each year. The examinations are to be held in all the schools at the same time, namely on the three successive days beginning the last Wednesday in May, in each year, and the papers of the candidates are to be dispatched to the College on the Saturday immediately following.

All applications for information or admission should be addressed to the President of the College, Kendall Green, Washington, D. C.

Name of the College.

In 1893 a petition from the Alumni was presented to the Board of Directors, praying that the name of the College, which was then the National Deaf-Mute College, might be changed to Gallaudet College, in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, the founder of deaf-mute instruction in America, a bronze statue of whom had been placed on the College grounds by the deaf people of the United States in 1889.

After careful consideration the directors decided, unanimously, to act favorably on the petition of the Alumni, and the new name of the College was announced by President Welling of Columbian University, a member of the Board, on Presentation Day, May 2, 1894.

Instruction.

Religious services of an undenominational character are held daily, in which the Faculty and the students participate.

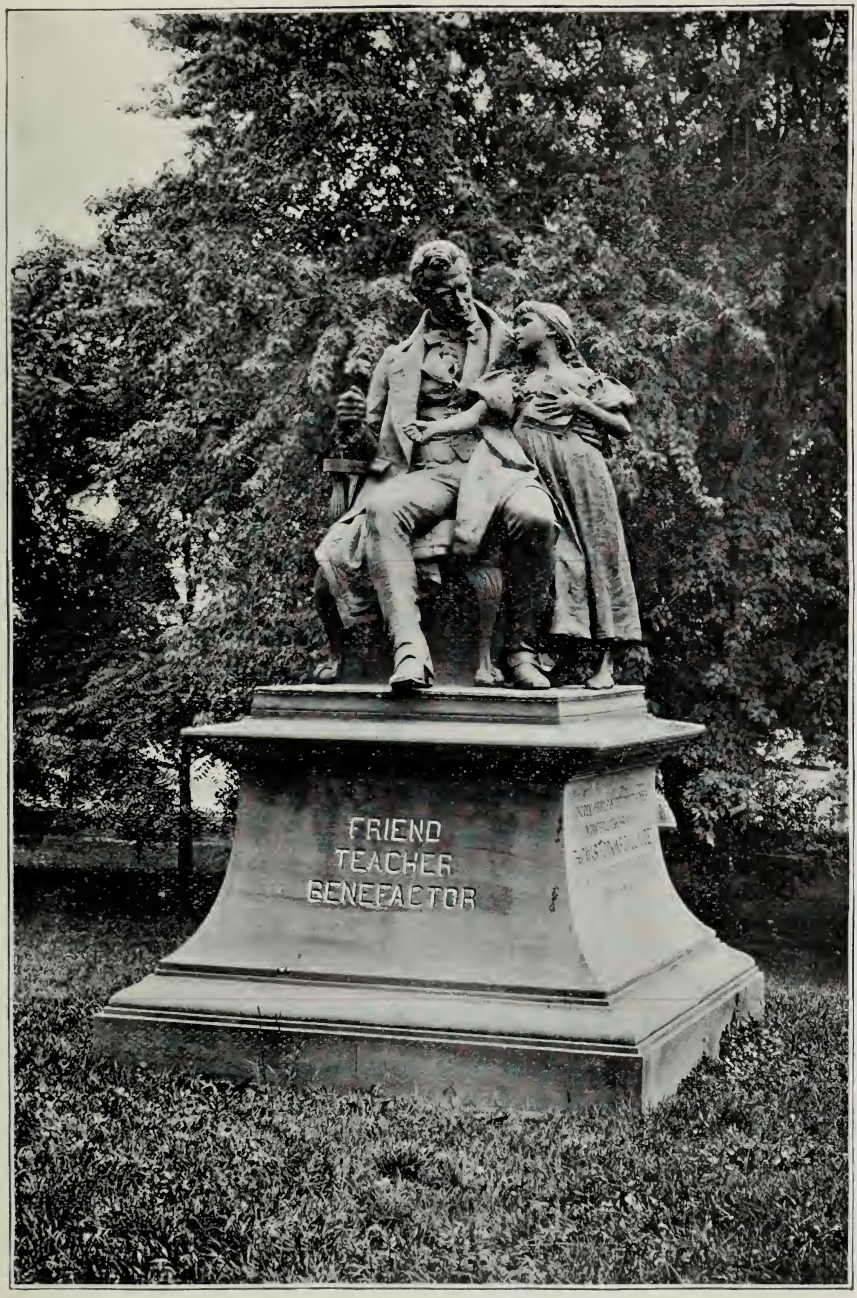
Instruction in Drawing and Painting is provided for all students who desire to take lessons in these subjects.

Systematic physical training, under the direction of instructors, in a well-equipped gymnasium, is required of both sexes throughout the course.

The courses of instruction and study given in the arts and sciences are set forth in the following outline.

The system of instruction includes the recitation of assigned subjects; discussions and lectures; work in laboratories and with instruments; courses of reading directed by members of the Faculty, and practice in English composition.

The entire curriculum, including a preparatory year, embraces a period of five years, each of which is divided into three terms.



STATUE OF THOMAS HOPKINS GALLAUDET. FOUNDER OF DEAF-MUTE EDUCATION IN AMERICA.

Instruction in articulation and speech-reading is offered to all the students of the College. Special pains are taken to preserve and improve, by suitable and frequent oral exercises, whatever powers of speech and ability to read the lips are possessed by students on entering College.

OUTLINE OF THE CURRICULUM.

PREPARATORY COURSE.

English.—The course includes a study of the elements of composition, with weight laid on sentence and paragraph structure to secure clearness, emphasis, smoothness, and variety. A large portion of the time is given to the reading and study of the works specified by the Conference on Uniform College Entrance Requirements in English, and includes the critical study of the rhetorical form and grammatical structure of the text. Almost daily written exercises are exacted, and the results of the critical examination are entered in note-books for reference. Collateral reading is required to clarify statements and references in the text, and compositions written embodying the results of such collateral reading. Compositions on other themes are also required.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Text-book: Gardiner, Kittredge & Arnold's Elements. Miss Peet.

Latin.—The first half-year is devoted to Book I of Cæsar's Gallic War; the second half to Cicero's Orations against Catiline. Special attention is paid to the construction of the author's language, to an analysis of his thought, and to its accurate rendering into good English.

Five hours a week during the year. Assistant Professor A. B. Fay.

Plane Geometry.—The endeavor is made in this course to train the students in independent reasoning. Neat construction and logical statement are required. The work varies between written demonstrations and those given by speech or dactylology at the blackboard. Frequent original exercises are given.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

Text-book: Wentworth's Plane Geometry. Dr. Draper and Professor Hall.

Ancient History.—The geography and chronology are studied with thoroughness, the construction of maps and chronological charts to show the locality and contemporaneousness of events being required. When supplementary lectures are given by the instructor, the class is required to take notes and bring in the matter in written form. Much collateral reading is exacted, and the student is prompted to apply the knowledge obtained in this study to readings of the classical authors.

Two hours a week through the year.

Text-books: Myer's Ancient History and Fling's Source-Book of Greek History and Munro's of Roman History. Miss Peet.

Drawing.—Freehand Drawing is required of all students.

Two hours a week during the year. Mr. Bryant.

UNDERGRADUATE COURSE OF STUDY FOR THE DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF ARTS.

The College makes provision for thorough instruction in the essentials of a liberal education, without attempting to do the special work of the polytechnic schools on the one hand or that of the University on the other. The course of higher instruction leading to collegiate degrees occupies four years, and embraces courses in (1) Languages, ancient and modern, (2) Mathematics, (3) Natural Science, (4) History, and (5) Philosophy and Political Science. Studies noted as optional may be pursued only by special permission of the Faculty. The arrangement of the studies by years is given in the Synopsis which follows this descriptive outline.

I.—Languages.

Modern Languages.

English Composition, A.—The study and practice of the principles of English composition. Models are studied, and attempts to imitate their merits required. Written exercises are read and criticized in the presence of the writer as far as practicable.

Two hours a week during the Freshman year. Miss Peet.

English Composition, B.—Advanced Course. One hour a week, Sophomore year.

Text-book: Baldwin's Composition. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Rhetoric.—Three hours a week, third term, Sophomore year.

Text-book: Genung's Outlines. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Public Speaking.—In this course it is intended to give to the student in some degree the power to "think on his feet," and to accustom him to an orderly array and presentation of his thoughts.

One hour a week through the Sophomore year. Dr. Hotchkiss.

English Literature, A.—Selections from the works of each author under consideration are examined critically; and, occasionally, an entire work is selected for such analysis, and portions committed to memory for histrionic presentation. Usually the results educed by such analysis and presentation are required to be given in writing. Essays are also at times exacted, giving an estimate of an author as derived from eminent critics.

Three hours a week, first and second terms of the Sophomore year.

Text-book: Halleck's English Literature, and various texts. Dr. Hotchkiss.

English Literature, B.—A continuation of Course A. Elective; open to Juniors.

Five hours a week during the second term, Junior year.

Text-book: Halleck's English Literature, and various texts. Dr. Hotchkiss.

American Literature.—A course carried on along the lines of English Literature, A.

Elective, five hours a week, third term, Freshman year.

Text-book: Abernethy, and various texts. Dr. Hotchkiss or Professor Day.

Philology.—The general principles of language-growth; the origin and growth of English, with its foreign elements, and the growth and change in form and meaning of English words, are successively taken up. The study is supplemented by lectures and collateral reading and theme-writing.

Five hours a week during the third term of the Junior year.

Text-books: Hadley's Brief Sketch of the History of the English Language; Johnson's English Words; Anderson's Study of Words. Dr. Hotchkiss.

French, Elementary.—French grammar and reading. The attempt is made to give a thorough comprehension of grammatical forms and principles, the peculiarities of idioms, the relation of French to English, and especially to render students skilful, accurate and ready in translation.

Five hours a week through the Junior year.

Text-books: Grandgent's Essentials of Grammar; Aldrich & Foster's French Reader; supplemental reading. Dr. Fay.

Advanced French.—An elective course devoted mainly to translation of French texts.

Elective; five hours a week, first and second terms, Senior year.

Text-books: Various French texts. Dr. Fay and Assistant Professor A. B. Fay.

German, Elementary.—German grammar and reading. The aim in this course is, like that in Elementary French, to give a thorough foundation in the study of the grammar and idioms of the language and to give practice in accurate translation.

Five hours a week through the Senior year.

Text-books: Becker-Rhoades Elements of German; supplementary reading. Dr. Fay.

ancient languages.

While the time devoted to the ancient languages is less than in the usual curriculum of American colleges, it is believed that Latin and Greek are taught in such a manner as to awaken in the students the true spirit of classical scholarship, and to enable them subsequently to read more difficult authors, independently, with pleasure and profit.

Latin, Advanced Course.—A selection of two of the following authors: Cicero, Virgil, Ovid, Horace, Livy, Tacitus, Terence.

Elective; five hours a week for the first and second terms of the Freshman year. Dr. Draper or Assistant Professor A. B. Fay.

Greek.—The study of Greek is optional; the course marked out by the Faculty, comprising White's Beginner's Book, Goodwin's Grammar, and Xenophon's Anabasis in the Freshman year, Homer's Iliad in the Sophomore year, and Demosthenes on the Crown in the Junior year, has been successfully pursued to a greater or less extent by several students. Dr. Fay.

II.—Mathematics.

Algebra.—Theory of exponents, ratio and proportion, variation, series, the binomial theorem, structure and offices of logarithms.

Five hours a week, first term of the Freshman year.

Text-book: Wentworth's New School Algebra. Drs. Draper and Ely and Professor Hall.

Solid Geometry.—With the use of tangible objects, such as globes, cones, pyramids, etc., the principles of solid geometry are taught.

Elective; Five hours a week, first term of the Freshman year.

Text-book: Wentworth's Solid Geometry. Dr. Draper.

Plane Trigonometry.—Functions of angles; solution of triangles; use of logarithmic tables.

Five hours a week, second term of Freshman year.

Text-book: Wentworth's Plane Trigonometry and Tables. Professor Hall.

Mechanics.—Elementary propositions of mechanics mathematically demonstrated and illustrated.

Five hours a week, third term of the Freshman year.

Text-book: Dana's Mechanics. Dr. Ely.

Descriptive Geometry.—Elective; open to students who have studied solid geometry.

Five hours a week through the second and third terms of the Freshman year.

Text-book: McCord's Elements of Descriptive Geometry. Mr. Allison.

Analytic Geometry.—Optional.

Five hours a week during the first and second terms of the Sophomore year.

Text-book: Ashton's Plane and Solid Analytic Geometry. Professor Hall.

Spherical Trigonometry and Surveying.—Elementary work in Spherical Trigonometry, followed by practical work out doors in plane surveying. This completes Trigonometry and reviews the principles of the work in Plane Trigonometry of the Freshman year.

Elective; five hours a week during the third term of the Sophomore year.

Text-book: Wentworth's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry and Surveying, with Tables. Professor Hall.

Differential and Integral Calculus.—Optional study, offered to Juniors.

Text-book: Bowser's Calculus. Professor Hall.

Surveying.—More advanced work in Plane Surveying, the use and adjustment of the transit, leveling and topographic work, is offered to students in the Junior and Senior years. Professor Hall.

Mechanics of Materials.—Optional course offered to Seniors. Based on the first six chapters of Merriman's Mechanics of Materials. Professor Hall.

III.—Natural Science.

Physics.—The required work consists of notes of lectures, recitation and laboratory work. During the first term, the Properties of Matter, the Dynamics of Fluids and Heat, are studied. The second term is given to Electricity and Magnetism, and Light.

Five hours a week through the first and second terms of the Sophomore year.

Text-book: First Course in Physics; Laboratory Course in Physics, Millikan and Gale. Professor Day.

Electricity.—General Electricity; theoretical and practical consideration of commercial generators and motors.

Elective; five hours a week during the first and second terms of the Junior year.

Text-books: Sylvanus P. Thompson's Electricity and Magnetism; Jackson's Alternating Currents. Mr. Allison.

Advanced work in Electricity is offered as an optional to students who have taken the above course. Mr. Allison.

General Engineering.—Lectures on motors and on general engineering are offered to especially qualified students in their Senior year. Mr. Allison.

Chemistry, A: Inorganic Chemistry—with a brief review of some of the more important compounds of carbon.

Five hours a week of recitations and laboratory work during the first and second terms of Sophomore year. In all the work in the courses in Chemistry a laboratory period of two hours is considered the equivalent of a one-hour recitation period.

Text-book: Newell's Descriptive Chemistry. Dr. Ely.

Chemistry, B: Qualitative Chemical Analysis.—Elective; open to students who have taken Chemistry A.

Laboratory work of ten hours a week in the third term of Sophomore year.

Text-Book: Seller's Qualitative Analysis. Dr. Ely.

Chemistry, C: Advanced Chemical Qualitative Analysis.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry B.

Laboratory work of ten hours a week for one term.

Text-book: No one book is used, but students are taught to employ the methods included in the more advanced text-books, such as Fresenius, or Prescott and Johnson. Dr. Ely.

Chemistry, D: Quantitative Chemical Analysis.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry C.

Ten hours a week for two terms.

Text-book: Talbot's Quantitative Analysis. Dr. Ely.

Chemistry, E: Organic Chemistry.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry A.

Five hours a week of recitations and laboratory work for two terms.

Text-book: Remsen's Organic Chemistry. Dr. Ely.

Chemistry, F: Chemical Preparations.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry B.

Laboratory work equivalent to ten hours a week for one-half a term.

Text-book: No one text-book is employed, but students are given a number of inorganic compounds to prepare, and are required to consult various standard works in order to select methods to employ in their preparation. Dr. Ely.

Soils and Fertilizers.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry A. An elementary course of practical benefit to students expecting to take up agricultural pursuits after leaving college.

Recitations and laboratory work equivalent to five recitation hours a week for one term.

Text-book: Snyder's Soils and Fertilizers. Dr. Ely.

Determinative Mineralogy.—Optional; open to students who have taken Chemistry B. An elementary course in the determination of the common rock-forming and other minerals of economic importance.

Laboratory work equivalent to five recitation hours a week for one-half a term.

Text-book: Crosby's Tables for the Determination of Common Minerals. Dr. Ely.

Assaying.—Optional; open to students who have taken, or are taking, Chemistry D.

Laboratory work equivalent to five recitation hours a week for one-half a term. Five assay methods are employed in the estimation of the amount of gold and silver in ores containing these metals.

Text-book: Brown's Manual of Assaying. Dr. Ely.

Biology, A: Botany.—The course consists of the minute study of the structure and special functions of plants and their tissues; and a comparative study of the life-histories of certain types, which is intended to give a general view of the evolution and classification of plants. The study of trees is taken up to familiarize the student with native and introduced species, and the characteristic structure of the more common kinds of wood.

Text-book: Elements of Botany, Bergen. Professor Day.

Dendrology.—Optional. Text-books: Manual of the Trees of North America, Sargent; The Tree Book, Rogers. Three hours a week through the Spring term of the Senior year. Professor Day.

Biology, B: Zoology.—Includes a general view of biological theories, and leads to laboratory methods of dissection and experiment and the use of the microscope. A general idea imparted of the structure and functions of animals and plants, and of the theories of evolution, natural selection, variation, mutation and heredity.

Five hours a week during the first term of the Junior year.

Text-books: Linville & Kelly's General Zoology; Hunter and Valentine's Laboratory Manual. Professor Day.

Biology, C: Physiology.—Five hours a week through the second term of the Junior year.

Text-book: Walker's Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene. Professor Day.

Astronomy.—This is an elective course and is designed only to give the fundamental conceptions of the science, and the present state of our knowledge of the heavenly bodies. The telescope is used; and the class is usually given the privilege of an evening in the United States Naval Observatory.

Five hours a week during the second term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Young's Lessons in Astronomy. Professor Day.

Geology.—Dynamic, Structural, and Historical Geology, with a supplemental study of rocks and rock-forming minerals.

Five hours a week, third term of Senior year.

Text-books: Le Conte's Compend of Geology, and Crosby's Common Minerals and Rocks. Dr. Ely.

IV.—History.

Mediæval, and Modern.—Three hours a week through the Freshman year.

Texts: Myers; also Ogg's Source Book of Mediæval History. Miss Peet.

Political History of the United States.—It is proposed in this course to set before the student a clear exposition of the principles on which the Government is founded, and to point out the modifications and developments which time, events, and the policies of our statesmen have brought about. It will include frequent lectures and much collateral reading.

Five hours a week for the entire third term of the Junior year.

Text-book: Wilson's State and Federal Governments of the United States. Dr. Hotchkiss.

V.—Philosophy and Political Science.

Logic, Deductive and Inductive.—Copious written exercises are exacted, and, when sufficiently advanced, the student is required to analyze the simpler arguments in support of moral, political, and scientific truths.

Five hours a week during the first term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Jevon's Elements. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Ethics.—The theories and conclusions of the leading writers on the subject are examined and compared with those of the author of the text-book used.

Five hours a week during six weeks of the first term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Hickock's Moral Science, revised by J. H. Seelye. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Political Economy.—The views of various writers are examined and compared with those of the text used.

Five hours a week during six weeks of the first term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Perry's Introduction to Political Economy. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Psychology.—The essentials of this science studied. Simple experiments under the guidance of Witmer are exacted of the class to illustrate points and principles inculcated. Special stress is laid upon the mental development and training of the child.

Five hours a week during the third term of the Senior year.

Text-books: Buell's Essentials, and Witmer's Analytical Psychology. Dr. Hotchkiss.

Evidences of Christianity.—Five hours a week for six weeks in the second term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Dr. Emory's Analysis of Butler's Analogy. The President.

International Law.—Five hours a week for six weeks in the second term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Gallaudet's International Law. The President.

Æsthetics.—Five hours a week for several weeks in the last term of the Senior year.

Text-book: Bascom's Lectures on the Science of Beauty. The President.

VI.—Supplementary Courses.

In order to assure its graduates a well-rounded training for life, the following general courses are given:

Business Methods.—A short course in the elements of business practice, dealing with letter-writing, bills, banking, notes, wills, deeds, etc.

Required course. Two hours a week during the Freshman year.

Text-book: Teller and Brown's Business Methods. Professor Hall.

Elements of Law.—First term, Senior year, five hours a week. Required of all Seniors who do not study advanced French.

Domestic Economics.—If sufficient demand arises in the future, the young ladies of the College will be offered a course in Domestic Economics as an optional study.

THE GYMNASIUM, WITH PROFESSOR'S HOUSE.

Freshmen choosing Cicero in the first term must take Virgil in the second term and American Literature in the third; Juniors expecting to take Electricity in the second term must have pursued that study in the first term; but the French of the Senior year will be so arranged that any member of the class may take up the second term work.

No recitations are held on Saturdays. The length of the recitation period is one hour. Thus, unless otherwise stated, each subject is taught five hours per week.

OPTIONAL STUDIES.

The following courses will be given as sufficient demand for them arises. They may be counted for degrees instead of regular courses, by consent of the Faculty:

1. Greek.

2. Mathematics.—Analytic Geometry; Calculus; Strength of Materials.

3. Domestic Economics.

4. Dendrology.

5. Surveying.—Leveling; Plane Surveying.

6. Electricity.—Generators; Motors; Electrotyping.

7. Chemistry.—Soils and Fertilizers; Chemistry C, Advanced Qualitative Analysis; Chemistry D, Quantitative Analysis; Chemistry E, Organic Chemistry; Chemistry F, Chemical Preparations; Determinative Mineralogy; Assaying.

NORMAL COURSE.

A course in the science and art of instructing the deaf is afforded to a limited number of young hearing persons who wish to become teachers of the deaf. Candidates for this course are expected to be graduates of colleges of good standing. Exception is sometimes made in favor of graduates of normal schools or of high schools who show exceptional qualifications.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

First Term.

The language of signs; the use of the manual alphabet—one hour daily.

Speech-teaching, voice-training, visible speech—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in speech-classes—one or two hours daily.

Lectures on the manual alphabet; the classification of the deaf; the ear; the throat and voice; the history of the education of the deaf in America; child-study—aggregating two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Causes of deafness; number of the deaf; occupations of the deaf, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis—History of the education of the deaf.

Second Term.

Instruction in finger-spelling and signs, as in the first term.

Practice in speech-teaching—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in manual and speech classes—one to two hours daily.

Lectures on aural development; child-study—aggregating two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Physical training; the school-room; school records, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis on subject chosen during term.

Third Term.

Instruction in signs and spelling as in first and second terms.

Practice in speech-teaching—one hour daily.

Observation and practice in classes in geography, history, arithmetic and language—one to two hours daily.

Lectures on child-study, methods of instruction in language, arithmetic, geography and history—an aggregate of two hours weekly.

Topics for study and written report: Text-books; marks; examinations; out-door work, etc.—one topic each week.

Thesis on the teaching of some special subject, as arithmetic or language.

Some of the books of reference used are: Page on Teaching, Mottoes and Commentaries of Froebel's Mother Play, Bell's Visible Speech in Twelve Lessons, Guttman's Voice Training, Arnold's Teachers' Manual, Reports of the Convention of the American Instructors of the Deaf, the American Annals of the Deaf.

Observation and practice work are carried on in the Kendall School, the primary department of the Institution. After three months' instruction the normal students are required to assist in speech-teaching in the college as well as in the school.

Throughout the year they live with the college students and take an active part in all the social life of the Institution.

The members of the class assist in supervising the pupils of the Kendall School. They also help conduct chapel exercises in the school during the second and third terms.

The aim of the department is to equip well-educated young men and women with such knowledge not only of teaching, but of the deaf themselves, that they may be able to do intelligent work at once in the various schools of the country.

General Information.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies required for admission to the Preparatory Class, as well as in all the studies of the latter class.*

Testimonials of good moral character are required of all applicants for admission.

The charge for board and tuition in the College is two hundred and fifty dollars for the academic year. Congress, however, makes provision for the free admission of residents of the District of Columbia who have not the means of supporting themselves, and for those whose fathers are in the military or naval service of the United States. To students from the States and Territories who have not the means of defraying all the expenses of the College course the Board of Directors is authorized by Congress to render such assistance as circumstances seem to require, and as far as the means at its disposal for this object will allow.

All applications for admission should be addressed to the President.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of each term there are written examinations in all the studies of the term.

A record is kept by the Faculty, which shows the standing in study of each student for every term, as determined from the recitations and the examinations, both being graded on a scale of 10. A student whose combined mark falls below 7, in any subject, or mark in examination below 6.5, is conditioned. The condition may be removed by obtaining a mark of 6.5 upon re-examination. The members of the graduating class have public parts on Presentation Day. Original dissertations are delivered by those whose average for the College course is below 8, and orations by those who attain a higher standing.

* Requirements for admission to the Preparatory Class are issued in a circular that can be had on request.

DEGREES.

The corporation is authorized by an act of Congress to confer "such degrees in the arts and sciences as are usually granted in colleges."

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on students who have sustained examinations on the full Academic course of four years, and who have paid all their dues to the College.

The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on students who have sustained examinations on the first two years of the Academic course, and on two years of work in Science equivalent in difficulty to the last two years of Academic work, making a full course of four years.

Students so desiring are permitted to pursue a selected course of study extending through four years, the satisfactory completion of which will entitle them to receive the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, or of Letters.

The Master's degree will be conferred, in course, on graduates of not less than three years' standing who shall furnish the Faculty with satisfactory evidence of their having made substantial progress in science, philosophy, literature, or the liberal arts since their graduation. Application for this degree should be made to the President of the College in writing.

The Master's degree is also conferred on those graduates of the normal department who have previously taken the Bachelor's degree.

AUXILIARY PRIVILEGES.

The students maintain separate literary societies, libraries, and reading-rooms. They also have access to the College and Institution libraries and to the educational collections in the College museum.

The Library of Congress, and the collections of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Museum, the Corcoran Gallery of the Fine Arts, and other collections of the National Capital, open to the public, are of inestimable value to the students of the College.
